

Wide Double Cobra Paracord Bracelet - Black and Grey

Project B1074

Designer: Megan Milliken

This paracord bracelet has a double, side by side version of the cobra pattern. It's masculine and quite visually interesting.

Instructions

You can use a pair of flush cutters or a strong sharp pair of scissors to cut through your paracord. You will also need a cheap plastic lighter to complete this project. You'll want a plain one with no shrink wrap, and you'll want one you don't mind getting wrecked.

1. Watch the instructional video: How to Make a Wide (Double) Cobra Paracord Bracelet. As explained in the video, you'll need about a foot of each color of cord for each inch of knotting. Follow the instructions in the video to determine how much cord and knotting you'll need.
2. Cut a length of grey paracord and two lengths of black paracord to the measurements that you have established.
3. Follow the instructions given in the video to attach your cords to a 1" black plastic buckle and complete your knotting.
4. Finish the knotting as shown in the video.
