

Betrothed Wrist-to-Ring Bracelet

Project B8021

Alexandra Smith

In Indian culture, the wrist-to-ring bracelet is a popular form of wedding jewelry called Hath Panja. This bracelet embellishes the hand from wrist to finger with sterling silver ready-to-use pearl chain and delicate connector links.

Instructions

This bracelet measures 7.75 inches around the wrist, and 4.25 inches over the back of the hand. The ring is size 10.5. To modify the size of any portion of the piece, adjust the number of wire wrapped beads and/or jump rings in each section respectively. I have accounted for at least 3 inches of extra chain due to links cut in the design process.
